SECULAR PEOPLE accept that we, not gods, are responsible for our own welfare, accomplishments, and fate as a species. Worldly rather than spiritual, we advocate secular materialism, do not relate to a religion nor a religious body, nor are we bound by restrictions of a religious order. We accept science, not religion, as the authority for our beliefs and that the Laws of Nature, not the laws of religions, must be the ultimate source of rules for living and of human morality as it must be applicable to all individuals, groups and societies.
